

Edgar Wright has brought us up to date on Ant-Man. While sitting down and chatting with Digital Spy on his latest film, The World's End, the director announced that he has finished the script. According to Wright and co-writer Joe Cronish (Attack the Block) the script "required some tweaking". Check out the interview below. ...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/antman-script-finished_article_137972.html