

Last week I expressed doubt about Laurel's sudden proficiency in battle but I needn't have worried as the Arrow writers were ready. When the Canary encounters a mugger she suffers a knife wound and needs Roy to bail her out of a fight. This fittingly pointed out that while she has SOME skills she is nowhere on the level of her sister, Sara...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/arrow-midnight-city-review_article_141241.html