

The second half of the Arrow Season Two Midseason finale continues to build on the foundation set in the first part, paving the way for the in-costume debut of The Flash in his own pilot, and setting up the second half with a major new villain to torment Green Arrow and his allies. As the first part ended...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/arrow-three-ghosts-review_article_138910.html