

Constantine is on the search for a vinyl album recorded by a famous Memphis bluesman that legend says also has the voice of the devil himself on it. The record implores anyone who touches the disc to play it, resulting in their grisly deaths. Constantine soon learns he is not the only one interested in recovering the record. His old nemesis...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/constantine-devils-vinyl-review_article_140841.html