

It is fun to see Marvel tie their cinematic plans to their comic properties. With each new cinematic universe announcement I always turn to the comics to see how that property will shape the stories we read. The Inhumans are long over due and I for one am glad to see them getting recognized for their great characters. It looks as if Black Bolt is going to take center stage in UNCANNY INHUMANS #0. Check out the press releases below...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/first-look-uncanny-inhumans-0_article_141128.html