

WARNING SPOILERSIt is the sign of a good TV series that it can still be enjoyable even when it's not a great episode and that certainly was the case with "Plastique." The episode was largely disposable but still pushed enough buttons to earn a better than passing grade. Barry is investigating a bombing when he discovers the culprit is essentially a living bomb...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/flash-plastique-review_article_140859.html