

As we saw in the finale, Rick's only motivation in the zombie world is his son. We're treated to flashbacks back in the prison days where Hershel (nice seeing him back) urges Rick to put the gun down and pick up farming tools for the sake of Carl. The war was over, now it was time to farm and spend quality time with his son...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/walking-dead-review_article_139502.html